What is “Down for That”?

Down for That is an initiative led by UCA of SME to raise awareness of careers in the tunneling and underground construction industry.

The website, undergroundcareers.org, will provide students and professors with information and encourage engineering students to pursue a career in underground construction and tunneling.

HELP US BUILD THE PIPELINE

Share Your Story

To build the undergroundcareers.org site, our first objective is to collect content students and professors can access in order to explore the industry and to deliver current and relevant curriculum.

Right now, we are asking professionals to contribute:

- + Photos of jobsites, machines, and projects
- + Videos describing projects, machines, or case studies
- + Papers and conference presentations

To contribute, email Brianna Home at brianna@hansenbelyea.com
